

FANCY DRESS BALL

At Como School

Como Public School grounds were flooded for the annual fancy dress ball held on Friday, November 6. Over a 1000 persons gathered to see the children dancing in their gay and fancy costumes. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes, the judges being Mr. and Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Miss Wild, Mrs. Erickson, and Mrs. Lloyd. The function was arranged by the Como Parents and Citizens' Association and was one of the most successful yet held. An exhibition of folk dancing was given by the senior girls, who later joined with the senior boys in colourful and popular square dancing. At the close of the function the guests and judges were entertained at supper by the school staff and members of the P. & C. Association.

The Council for the Promotion of Sydney Church of England schools last week appointed Mrs. J. Cowell, B.A., as Headmistress of Danebank Church of England School, Park Road, Hurstville. Mrs. Cowell, who resides at Algernon Street, Outrey, is a graduate of Sydney University and has been a senior member of Danebank School staff for several years. She has been acting-headmistress of the school since the retirement of Dr. G. Wilson last August.
